Fire played a role in the northern Rocky Mountain forests. This ponderosa pine cross-section, cut from an old stump just 5 miles north of Missoula, Montana, shows numerous firescars. Established in the early 1300’s.